

Kooyong Meres Pinot Noir 2014 – Reviews

James Halliday Australian Wine Companion 2017

Campbell Mattinson

This turns the screws on quality. It's firm and varietally rich with meat, spice, black cherry and volleys of undergrowth and assorted earth notes. It's as if it's been borne up out of the ground. It's savoury, smoky and sweet-fruited, but in the end it's nothing but itself.

96 points

Winefront, 19th January 2017

Campbell Mattinson

The firm hand of quality. It blends iron and earth with dark, grunty fruit. It's not dense or thick but there's a fine brood to it. Meaty tannin completes the picture. Strikes a commanding pose.

93 points

Australian Financial Review, Life and Leisure, 16-18 Sept 2016.

Tim White

Smells fabulous: deep, woodyforestpips, plus subtle oak cedariness. Super deep. Plenty happening on the tongue, too: sweet-sharp, wet and dry, dense and intense, with pips and poached pear. Chewy, edgy and carbon flecked. Should evolve well over the next few years.

95 (96) points