

Kooyong Ferrous Pinot Noir 2014 – Reviews

Super tight and structural with gun smoke, flint, dry cherry and sinewy herb notes striking a distinctive pose through the palate. Controlled reduction is a key part of the wine's make-up. So too tannin and acid. So too a charm of its own design.

Out there but in a good way. Smoky and reductive with white pepper and cloves studded throughout. Fruit is light but firm. No sitting on the fence; love or loathe.
