

Port Phillip Estate Red Hill Chardonnay 2017 – Reviews

---

James Halliday Australian Wine Companion 2020

David Bicknell

It feels effortless, it feels powerful, it finishes long. Oatmeal, stone fruit, citrus and spice notes burst vigorously the palate, the (high) quality abundantly clear at all times. Excellent chardonnay.

95 points

Wine Front, December 2018

Campbell Mattinson

The 2016 release was excellent; it hasn't missed the boat in 2017 either.

I love the way this makes power look effortless. It's like a cat in the way it turns away as soon as you look hard at it. It tastes of stonefruit, citrus, oatmeal and toast, though really it just presents in one seamless flow. It has texture, it has length, it has class.

94 points

Australian Wine Vintages 2019

Rob Geddes

Quietly beguiling – a complex mix of aromas from the get-go. Oatmeal, white peach and creamy cashew invites you in. The wine shows poise – fleshy white peach and grilled nuts form a core of flavour that runs the length of the palate. Balanced, harmonious and long. Really good.

94 points