

Port Phillip Estate Salasso Rosé 2018 – Reviews

James Halliday Australian Wine Companion 2020

Very pale tea rose. And very aromatic too. Heady florals, spicy red currants, maybe a hint of complexing sulphides. It's textural, pinot gris-like moving from a sweet entry to savoury and dry in a thrice; but ultimately savoury, dry and polished. Really well made.

Pale, pretty, subtle red fruit and white cherry, a liquorice juiciness. It's soft and flavoursome, gentle acidity, powdery texture, blood orange in the aftertaste. Quiet complexity. Spot on.
