

Kooyong Faultline Chardonnay 2018 – Reviews

JeremyOliver.com, May 2020

Jeremy Oliver

Handsomely weighty and fruited, with its typical undercarriage of minerality and brittleness, it reveals a spicy bouquet of grapefruit and lemon, coriander and oregano, plus some tight-knit faintly smoky vanilla oak. It's unctuous and generous, but delivers genuine length and drive of citrusy fruit backed by creamy, nutty complexity before finishing savoury and almost saline.

94 points

WineFront, March 2020

Campbell Mattinson

This has body and flavour but all is displayed in a searing setting. Melon, citrus, lettuce, honeysuckle, white peach and woodsmoke. Not much oak, just a tickle. Length, yes. Don't touch this for at least a couple of years.

93 points