

Port Phillip Estate Morillon Pinot Noir 2021 – Reviews

From a 0.4-hectare block in Red Hill, planted in 1987. Bony, aromatic and spicy red fruited Pinot Noir, it's a little bit smoky, distinct amaro character to it, a little sappy and minty, but sweetly red fruited too; strawberries mainly. There's a dusty and peppery feel to tannin, almost Italianate in a way, kind of like Pelaverga, though don't mind me. It's not your run-of-the-mill Australian Pinot Noir regardless.

The lightly coloured 2021 Single Block Morillon Pinot Noir displays pretty aromas of red liquorice, cranberry and strawberry against a background of earthy spices. A lightly framed and silky palate follows. Refreshing acidity provides attractive vitality to a broad spectrum of spicy red fruit flavours. This slick and youthful wine supports enjoyment over the medium term.
