Jeni Port

Kooyong Estate is an old hand at Pinot Gris choosing to look to the grape’s serious side where texture rules, no doubt thanks to the role of old French barriques for fermentation. It’s a lovely, restrained style delving into some delicious apple, pear, honeysuckle aromatics and spice with a touch of guava, kiwi fruit. Moves with an understated delicacy flowing through on a smooth texture delivering pear and apple fruit threaded in spice. A fine partner with food.
